Mustaparta*

Well known for her covetable wardrobe, the Norwegian model's eponymous street-style blog has a global following. With an eye for print and a skill for layering, the 28-year-old photographer and stylist is often spotted on the sidewalks of NYC in silk shirts, bright denim and simple shifts styled with a modern twist.

CULTURE & STYLE

Christian Louboutin and fantastical pieces by Philip Treacy. Every fashion lover's dream, it's a rare opportunity to see some of the most exquisite investment pieces the fashion world has to offer. The only problem? We'd all wish you could take it all home. When Guinness runs at the Fashion Institute of Technology, New York from September 16, 2011 - January 7, 2012; fitnyc.edu ■

The Tom Binns Necklace
This Swarovski crystal and bead piece was inspired by the one-of-a-kind necklace worn by Michelle Obama.

The Valentino Bag
Every detail of this painted python tote exemplifies Valentino's exquisite craftsmanship.

The Victoria Beckham Red Carpet
Covered in black feathers, this dress is modernized by a shimmering thread of chiffon.

The Alexander McQueen Dress
The intricate artwork was inspired by gothic cathedrals and drawn by hand.

The Burak Uyan Heels
Geometrical shapes and graphic cut-outs meet to create this future classic.
